Mechanical Person/Semi-Skilled

Due to on-going growth, we are currently looking to recruit a Semi-Skilled Mechanical Person to work within our subcontract engineering organisation. This is an exciting opportunity for the successful applicants to join our well-established engineering company.

The successful candidate must:-

- Have previous experience of assisting in engineering projects in both a site and workshop environment
- Be able to work under the supervision of a qualified mechanical engineer
- Operate at all times within current quality (9001) and health & safety (18001) regulations.
- Possess a full UK driving licence.

You will have previous experience of working in an engineering/maintenance environment. You will have a positive work ethic and be able to work as part of team and demonstrate good communication skills.

This is a dayshift roll with excellent rates of pay which will be negotiable based on skill and experience. There will be the opportunity to benefit from regular paid overtime in addition to the standard 39 hour week. There will also be the opportunity to progress by developing new skills and qualifications in line with our business requirements.

Strictly no recruitment agencies or canvassers.
